

LANGUAGE OF INSTRUCTION

The lessons are bilingual. The languages of instruction are German and English to create conversation on an equal footing between the participants: those who have German as their mother tongue and those for whom it is a foreign language.

CERTIFICATION

All participants receive the certification “Integrational coach / Intercultural advisor”. A more qualified certification for your studies or professional advanced training can be achieved by writing a thesis and an appraisal session for your practical project. The certification is given by the YMCA-University of Applied Sciences and contains information on credits and work load.

TUITION FEES

The tuition fees for the seminar come to 950 €. The fees include accommodation and meals at the Himmelsfels but do not include them during the times at the the YMCA-University of Applied Sciences. There is the option to stay for an additional charge at the YMCA Conference Center (CVJM-Tagungshaus) where you can take meals as well.

INTEGRATIONAL COACH

INTERCULTURAL ADVISOR

GOAL OF THE ADVANCED

TRAINING COURSE

The advanced training as “Integrational coach” and “Intercultural advisor” has the aim to impart participants reflective and practice-oriented intercultural competences. This course is aimed at professional workers and volunteers in the social sector as well as students.

Participation requires first practical experiences in the work field of interculturality and internationality. The composition of the study group will be intercultural as well because the impartial and mutual encounter is an important part of the intercultural learning. Participants receive important background knowledge with regard to conditions and challenges within intercultural communities. In particular, they will learn practice-oriented educational, sociological, and communicative know-how for the integration of immigrants and refugees. Furthermore it is important to learn how to shape common life with different cultures in Germany.
